What We've Been Doing

We just got back from a productive trip to Alaska where we provided an educational event for patients, survivors and caregivers, and an in-service training for health care professionals and advocates.

We could be in your area soon! Here are some upcoming in-service trainings for advocates and health care professionals.

We are constantly creating new educational materials for patients, survivors, caregivers, advocates, and health care providers. These handouts are designed to be an introduction to topics, downloadable for free. Some of the recently updated handouts include:

- Quick Guide to the Affordable Care Act (ACA)
- Quick Guide to the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA)
- Quick Guide to the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA)
- Quick Guide to Disability Insurance

If there are topics that you would like to see handouts on, please email us at info@trriagecancer.org.

From Our Partners

We often get questions about how people can deal with the financial impact of a cancer diagnosis. There are many options and resources available, but sometimes people need to think outside the box.

One option may be using an existing life insurance policy as collateral for a loan.

Fifth Season Financial is a company that can help you do just that, while keeping a portion of the policy for your loved ones.

Read more about this financial assistance option and Fifth Season Financial in this blog post or contact them directly.
