

Click to view this email in a browser

July 29, 2014

Website | Blog | Email Us | Donate

Hi {FIRST_NAME|Friend},

Have you ever heard of “effective frequency?” This is the number of times that you have to hear something before it sinks into your memory. Well, here at Triage Cancer, we want to give you plenty of opportunities to access valuable information on cancer survivorship issues, whether you are a patient, survivor, caregiver, health care professional, or advocate.

Whether it’s our Educational Blog, our Cancer Survivorship Webinar Series, or our Resources Website, we hope that you will take advantage of these useful resources. And if you’re the type of person who appreciates good old-fashioned, in-person educational opportunities, you can bring a Triage Cancer Speaker to your community, by filling out a Speaker Request Form.

Educational Opportunities

Triage Cancer Webinar Series

We have some exciting topics coming up in our Cancer Survivorship Webinar Series, ranging from How to be a Better Advocate to Don't Stress the Stress. Check out the entire line up and register today!

Partner Events

Triage Cancer Speakers will be participating in several webinars and teleconferences hosted by our friends at Cancer and Careers. These webinars are FREE to attend, and provide CEUs to eligible health care professionals. Get more information about each of these events and register here.

Calling All Health Care Professionals & Advocates

In partnership with Cancer and Careers, Triage Cancer has developed a comprehensive In-Service Training for oncology health care professionals, advocates, and human resources professionals on employment and health insurance issues facing cancer survivors and caregivers.

We have hosted these one-day In-Service Trainings across the country for institutions such as Johns Hopkins Hospital, Northwestern Memorial Hospital, Wake Forest, UCLA, and the American Cancer Society. If you are interested in learning more about these events, or would like to request one at your institution, please visit our website, and fill out a request form.

And if you are in Alabama, Alaska, Florida, Louisiana, or Washington, D.C., we hope to see you at one of these trainings scheduled in the fall!

Advocacy Opportunities

Get Involved!

Living Beyond Breast Cancer's Young Women's Initiative is now accepting applications for the fall 2014 Young Advocate Program. The small group of young women selected to take part in the Young Advocate Program will receive training on how to better advocate for those affected by breast cancer within their communities. The next session will take place in Philadelphia, September 27-28. Find out more today!

Researchers from Loyola University Chicago and Duke University are conducting a survey to better understand how cancer survivors (defined as anyone from the point of cancer diagnosis until death) and their caregivers use social media for support and information gathering. The researchers believe that improving our understanding of how and why survivors and their caregivers use social media will allow them to improve the quality of information and support offered online. If you are a survivor or caregiver - please consider participating!

If you would like to learn more about this survey, visit: www.cancersurvivorstudy.com. If you would like to complete the survey click here!

TRIAGE CANCER: verb. \trē-'äzh,'kansər\ the assigning of priority order to projects on the basis of where time, funds, and other resources can be best used, are most needed, or are most likely to achieve success in navigating cancer

Get social with us!

survivorship issues.

TriageCancer.org

info@TriageCancer.org

If you no longer wish to receive these emails, please reply to this message with "Unsubscribe" in the subject line or simply click on the following link: Unsubscribe

Triage Cancer
PO Box 4552
Culver City, California 90231
US

Read the VerticalResponse marketing policy.

vertical DELIVERED BY response
Try It Free Today!