Part II: Understanding Estate Planning Documents in Your State

State Laws About Wills

A will is a legal document that provides instructions for what you would like to have happen to your property upon death. A will is also a place where parents can name a guardian for any minor children or adult children with developmental disabilities.

Florida probate courts accept written wills. To make a valid written will in Florida:

1. You need to be in the right state of mind to create a will. This means you need to be:
  - At least 18 years old
  - Of “sound mind” (meaning you know what you’re doing)
2. Your will must be written and signed in front of two adult witnesses.
3. Your will does not need to be notarized to be legal in Florida. But, you can make your will “self-proving,” or accepted in probate court without the court needing to contact your witnesses. To do this, sign an affidavit in front of a notary to prove your identity and that all parties had knowledge of the will.

Florida does not accept holographic (handwritten), or oral wills.

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Florida now allows you to execute your will remotely (e.g. sign an affidavit by teleconferencing with a notary). However, before you execute your will remotely, you should check your state’s laws to make sure that this is still allowed at the time you are executing your will.

State Laws About Financial Powers of Attorney

A power of attorney for financial affairs is a legal document where you (the principal) name a trusted adult (the agent) who is authorized to make financial decisions on your behalf.

Florida’s durable power of attorney form allows you to appoint someone to manage your finances, including assets like your property, taxes, and government benefits. You can also appoint an alternate agent in case the first person cannot act. This person can make all financial decisions for you, or you can limit their powers to specific areas, like filing taxes or banking. Unless you indicate otherwise in the “special instructions” section, this document takes effect immediately after you sign it, and will remain in effect if you become incapacitated. This document will remain in effect until you die or revoke your power of attorney.

Part III of this toolkit includes a sample form.

State Laws About Advance Directives for Health Care

An advance health care directive is a legal document you can use to provide written instructions, or state preferences, about your medical care in case you become unable to communicate. In Florida, this document includes three parts. You can complete part one and/or part two, but you must sign part three to make the document valid.

1. Florida Designation of Health Care Surrogate: You can appoint someone to make any and all health care decisions for you, including decisions about life-prolonging care, if your doctor determines you can no longer make these decisions yourself for any reason. You can also choose an alternate person if the first person you appoint is not available.
2. Florida Living Will: You can use a living will to express your wishes for your medical care in the event you become seriously ill or unconscious. You can also provide instructions for specific situations, including administering or withholding cardiopulmonary resuscitation, artificial respiration, artificially administered nutrition (food offered through surgically-placed tubes), comfort or pain management therapy, and any other instructions you would like to include. You can also indicate your preferences for organ donation with this document.
3. Execution: You and two witnesses must sign your AHCD to make it valid. Your surrogate and alternate surrogate cannot act as witnesses, and one of your witnesses cannot be a blood relative or spouse.

If you change your mind about the decisions you made in this document, you can revoke it orally, in writing, or by destroying the document. You must also notify your doctor and your agent that you have revoked your AHCD.

If you appoint your spouse as your agent, this will be automatically revoked if your marriage dissolves.

If you would like your surrogate to be able to withhold life-prolonging treatment while you are pregnant, insert the line ““My surrogate has the authority to order the withholding or withdrawal of life-prolonging treatment, even if I am pregnant,” in the “Additional Instructions” section.

State Laws About POLST/MOLST

A physician order for life-sustaining treatment (POLST) is a medical order completed by a seriously ill person and signed by a physician. The POLST does not replace an advance health care directive. You can complete a POLST form with your doctor. In Florida, this form lets you indicate your preferences for:

- Cardiopulmonary resuscitation orders (also known as a “Do not resuscitate,” or DNR order)
- Medical Interventions, ranging from all medical and surgical treatments available to prolong your life, selective treatments to restore your health while avoiding burdensome procedures, or comfort-focused treatments to manage symptoms and allow natural death
- Medically assisted nutrition, or food offered through surgically-placed tubes
- Additional orders or instructions for your care
- Hospice or palliative care

This form will not expire, so it is important for you and your physician to review it regularly to make sure it still reflects your wishes.

State Laws About Funeral Designation Forms

Funeral designation forms allow you to tell your loved ones what you would like to happen to your remains after you pass away. These forms can be used to choose someone to control what happens to your remains after your death, specify what you would like to have happen, and other wishes depending on your state.

Florida does not have a funeral designation form. However, FL law does recognize your right to designate your own funeral arrangements when written down. There is no express authority allowing you to authorize an individual to carry out those wishes, but that is something that you could include in your will.

State Laws About Death with Dignity

“Death with Dignity” laws, or physician-assisted dying/aid-in-dying laws, allow certain terminally ill people to voluntarily and legally request and receive a prescription medication from their physician to hasten their death in a peaceful, humane, and dignified way. By adding a voluntary option to the continuum of end-of-life care, these laws can give you dignity, control, and peace of mind during your final days with family and loved ones.

Florida does not have a death with dignity law. But, you can indicate other decisions related to end-of-life care through an advance health care directive.

Federal Law About HIPAA

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) is a federal law that protects the privacy of your health information. HIPAA does allow your protected health information to be shared with your personal representative who has authority to make health care decisions for you (i.e., your health care agent or proxy).

To guarantee your agent's access to information, a HIPAA authorization form should be signed and dated by you. Also, it must identify the information to be disclosed, the purpose of the disclosure, the recipients of the information, and an expiration date. This means that any advance health care directives should be clear about the scope of your agent's authority to receive protected health care information.

You can revoke a HIPAA authorization form at any time by notifying your health care provider in writing.

Part III of this toolkit includes a sample HIPAA authorization form. For more information:

I fully understand that this designation will permit my designee to make health care decisions and to provide, withhold, or withdraw consent on my behalf; to apply for public benefits to defray the cost of health care; and to authorize my admission to or transfer from a health care facility.

When making health care decisions for me, my health care surrogate should think about what action would be consistent with past conversations we have had, my treatment preferences as expressed in Part Two (if I have filled out Part Two), my religious and other beliefs and values, and how I have handled medical and other important issues in the past. If what I would decide is still unclear, then my health care surrogate should make decisions for me that my health care surrogate believes are in my best interest, considering the benefits, burdens, and risks of my current circumstances and treatment options.
