

Triage Cancer Estate Planning Toolkit: South Dakota

Part II: Understanding Estate Planning Documents in Your State

State Laws About Wills

A will is a legal document that provides instructions for what you would like to have happen to your property upon death. A will is also a place where parents can name a guardian for any minor children or adult children with developmental disabilities.

South Dakota probate courts accept written and holographic wills. To make a valid written will in South Dakota:

1. You need to be in the right state of mind to create a will. This means you need to be:
 - At least 18 years old
 - Of “sound mind” (meaning you know what you’re doing)
2. You need to sign the will in front of two witnesses who have watched you sign or authorize someone else to sign the will in your name in front of two witnesses who watched you acknowledge the signature.
3. You need both witnesses to sign the will in your presence.
4. You may also want to make your will “self-proving,” or accepted in probate court without the court needing to contact your witnesses. To do this, ask your witnesses to sign a notarized statement that it was your intention to make the will and you did so without undue or coercive influence.

South Dakota allows you to execute your will remotely, so your witnesses can witness you\ sign the will by using video communication technology (e.g., Zoom or Facetime.).

A holographic will is one that is handwritten by you. To make a valid holographic will in South Dakota:

1. You need to be in the right state of mind to create a will. This means you need to be:
 - At least 18 years old
 - Of “sound mind” (meaning you know what you’re doing)
2. Your will must be written in your handwriting and you must sign it

If you make a holographic will, it does not need to be signed by witnesses. However, most estate planning experts do not recommend relying on holographic wills because it is more difficult to prove that they are valid in probate court.

To revoke a written or holographic will, you can create a new will that is inconsistent with or revokes the previous one, or you can destroy the previous will such as by burning or tearing it.

State Laws About Financial Powers of Attorney

A power of attorney for financial affairs is a legal document where you (the principal) name a trusted adult (the agent) who is authorized to make financial decisions on your behalf.

South Dakota’s statutory form for power of attorney allows you to appoint someone to manage your finances, including assets like your property, taxes, and government benefits. You can also appoint an alternate agent, who will take charge separately if the first person cannot act, or who can oversee your finances jointly if you indicate this preference in the “special instructions” section. This person can make all financial decisions for you, including decisions related to your will, or you can limit their powers to specific areas, like filing taxes or banking. Unless you indicate otherwise in the “special instructions” section, this document takes effect immediately after you sign it. In South Dakota, a power of attorney is not “durable,” meaning that it does not remain in effect if you become incapacitated unless it explicitly says so using language such as, “This power of attorney shall not be affected by disability of the principal.” Note that if your designated agent is your spouse, they will be automatically removed in the case of a divorce.

A valid power of attorney must be signed and notarized.

Part III of this toolkit includes a sample form.

State Laws About Advance Health Care Directives

An advance health care directive (AHCD) is a legal document you can use to provide written instructions, or state preferences, about your medical care in case you become unable to communicate. In South Dakota, this document consists of a durable power of attorney for health care and a declaration.

South Dakota Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care: This form lets you choose someone (your “health care agent”) to make medical decisions for you any time you cannot make them yourself, including decisions about life-sustaining care, and organ donation. You can also appoint an alternate person to make these decisions if the first person you chose isn’t available. To guide this agent, you can share directions in the “other directions” section.

A durable power of attorney for health care must be signed and witnessed by two adults or by a notary public. The signing and witnessing of the document can be done using video communication technology. This form takes effect if your doctor determines you are unable to communicate health care decisions.

South Dakota Declaration: This is where you state your wishes about life-sustaining care in advance, in case you become unable to make these decisions due to terminal illness or unconsciousness.

To make your declaration legal, you must sign it and have it witnessed by two qualified adult witnesses or by a notary public.

A declaration goes into effect when your doctor determines that you are in a terminal condition, death is imminent, and you are no longer able to communicate decisions about medical care. You can change or revoke your advance health care directive at any time and in any manner (e.g. destroying the document or notifying your doctor). This decision takes effect when you tell your doctor or other health care professional. Your decision to revoke your agent’s power takes effect when you notify them.

Part III of this toolkit includes a sample form.

State Laws About POLST/MOLST

A physician order for life-sustaining treatment (POLST) is a medical order completed by a seriously ill person and signed by a physician. In South Dakota, this form is called a medical order for scope of treatment (MOST). The MOST does not replace an advance directive. You can complete a MOST form with your doctor. In order to be valid, the MOST must be signed by you and your doctor, nurse practitioner, or physician’s assistant.

This form lets you indicate your preferences for:

- Cardiopulmonary resuscitation orders (also known as a “Do not resuscitate,” or DNR order)
- Medical Interventions, ranging from all medical and surgical treatments available to prolong your life, selective treatments to restore your health while avoiding burdensome procedures, or comfort-focused treatments to manage symptoms and allow natural death
- Medically-assisted nutrition and hydration, or food and liquids offered through surgically-placed tubes

- Additional orders or instructions for your care

This form will not expire, so it is important for you and your physician to review it regularly to make sure it still reflects your wishes. You may revoke your MOST by destroying it, by a written revocation that is signed and dated, or by an oral revocation in front of an adult witness who signs and dates your revocation in writing. Revocation is effective when it is communicated to your health care provider.

You can find a sample form in Part III of this toolkit.

State Laws About Funeral Designation Forms

Funeral designation forms allow you to tell your loved ones what you would like to happen to your remains after you pass away. These forms can be used to choose someone to control what happens to your remains after your death, specify what you would like to have happen, and other wishes depending on your state.

South Dakota's Directions for the Disposition of My Body form allows you to indicate your wishes for the disposition of your remains and funeral arrangements.

State Laws About Death with Dignity

"Death with Dignity" laws, or physician-assisted dying/aid-in-dying laws, allow certain terminally ill people to voluntarily and legally request and receive a prescription medication from their physician to hasten their death in a peaceful, humane, and dignified way. By adding a voluntary option to the continuum of end-of-life care, these laws can give you dignity, control, and peace of mind during your final days with family and loved ones.

South Dakota does not have a death with dignity law. But, you can indicate other decisions related to end-of-life care through an advance health care directive.

Federal Law About HIPAA

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) is a federal law that protects the privacy of your health information. HIPAA does allow your protected health information to be shared with your personal representative who has authority to make health care decisions for you (i.e., your health care agent or proxy).

To guarantee your agent's access to information, a HIPAA authorization form should be signed and dated by you. Also, it must identify the information to be disclosed, the purpose of the disclosure, the recipients of the information, and an expiration date. This means that any advance health care directives should be clear about the scope of your agent's authority to receive protected health care information.

You can revoke a HIPAA authorization form at any time by notifying your health care provider in writing.

Part III of this toolkit includes a sample HIPAA authorization form. For more information:

STATUTORY FORM POWER OF ATTORNEY

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

This power of attorney authorizes another person (your agent) to make decisions concerning your property for you (the principal). Your agent will be able to make decisions and act with respect to your property (including your money) whether or not you are able to act for yourself. The meaning of authority over subjects listed on this form is explained in SDCL chapter 59-12.

This power of attorney does not authorize the agent to make health-care decisions for you.

You should select someone you trust to serve as your agent. Unless you specify otherwise, generally the agent's authority will continue until you die or revoke the power of attorney or the agent resigns or is unable to act for you.

Your agent is entitled to reasonable compensation unless you state otherwise in the Special Instructions.

This form provides for designation of one agent. If you wish to name more than one agent you may name a co-agent in the Special Instructions. Co-agents are required to have a majority to act unless you include otherwise in the Special Instructions.

If your agent is unable or unwilling to act for you, your power of attorney will end unless you have named a successor agent. You may also name a second successor agent.

This power of attorney becomes effective immediately unless you state otherwise in the Special Instructions.

COMPLETING SOUTH DAKOTA MOST

- a. Must be completed by a physician, nurse practitioner or physician assistant based on patient's preferences and/or best interests, and medical indications.
- b. South Dakota MOST must be signed and dated by a MD, DO, NP or PA to be valid.
- c. South Dakota MOST must be signed by the patient or the patient's authorized representative.
- d. Use of original form is strongly encouraged. Photocopies and faxes of signed and dated South Dakota MOST are legal and valid.

USING SOUTH DAKOTA MOST (Additional information available at: www.sdaho.org/MOST)

1. Any section that does not include an indication of the patient's or authorized representative's preference, is a directive to health care providers to use all necessary and appropriate medical interventions.
2. Artificial nutrition and hydration is optional when it cannot reasonably be expected to prolong life, would be more burdensome than beneficial, would cause significant physical discomfort, or patient had previously expressed a personal desire to forgo artificial nutrition by tube.
3. The determination of burden refers to the provision of artificial nutrition or hydration itself and not the quality of continued life of the patient.
4. A patient with capacity may revoke the South Dakota MOST at any time and request alternate treatment. Additionally, an authorized representative may revoke the MOST only if the MOST was executed by the authorized representative.
5. If there is a conflict between the patient's MOST document and the patient's written directives in any previously executed and unrevoked durable power of attorney or living will, the health care provider will treat the patient in accordance with the instructions in the MOST.

The duty of medicine is to care for patients even when they cannot be cured. Physicians, nurse practitioners and physician assistants, and their patients must evaluate the use of technology at their disposal based on available information. Judgments about the use of technology to maintain life must reflect the inherent dignity of the patient and the purpose of medical care. Everyone is to be treated with dignity and respect.

REVIEWING SOUTH DAKOTA MOST

It is recommended that this South Dakota MOST be reviewed periodically, such as when the patient is transferred from one care setting or care level to another, or there is a substantial change in the patient's health status. A patient may revoke a MOST at any time by:

- a. Destroying or defacing the MOST with the intent to revoke;
- b. A written revocation of the MOST, signed and dated by the patient; or
- c. An oral expression of the intent to revoke the MOST, in the presence of a witness 18 years of age or older who signs and dates in writing, confirming that such expression of intent was made.

NOTE: An authorized representative may not revoke a MOST unless the MOST was executed by the authorized representative. Any such revocation by the authorized representative must be in writing.

A revocation is effective upon communication to the health care provider. A health care provider who is informed of a revocation shall record the date and time of the notification of revocation in the patient's medical record.

A new South Dakota MOST form should be completed if the patient wishes to make any substantive change to treatment goal(s) (e.g. reversal of prior directive). When completing a new form, the old form must be properly voided and retained in the medical record. To void the South Dakota MOST form, draw line through sections A through D and write "VOID" in large letters. This must be signed and dated.
